Start Date: 06/26/2020

Start Time: 1:00 pm

End Time: 2:00 pm EST

For both union and nonunion workplaces, the return of employees to work following lockdowns will create difficult legal challenges, including:

- Protected Concerted Activity -- Can an employer prohibit employees from wearing face coverings with political messages like "Black Lives Matter" or "Make America Great Again"?
- Union Organizing -- Are employees more likely to want union representation following the lockdown, and what can an employer legally do or say?
- Union Workplaces -- What issues are likely to face employers that already have bargaining relationships or collective bargaining agreements with unions?

This webinar will address all of these critical return-to-work issues in the context of union-management relations under the National Labor Relations Act and other similar laws.
