

Glencore's Bid for Teck Spurs Call for Canada Pensions to Up Domestic Equity Stake

Tuesday, May 16, 2023

Michael Osborne was quoted in a Reuters article discussing Canadian institutional investors wanting to push Canada's most significant pension funds to limit their exposure to domestic companies. The more you interfere with Canadian pensions' operations, "the more you put pension returns at risk," said Michael. "We all know from our own pension savings ... putting all of your investments in one country — whether it's Canada or any other country — is a poor investment strategy."

To read the full article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Antitrust & Competition