

Employers are revisiting early-pandemic policies as delta variant surges

Monday, August 30, 2021

Michele Ballard Miller spoke with HR Dive about handling the recent COVID-19 surge. "We're dusting off what we did a year ago," said Michele. She discussed the policies employers are revisiting due to the surge in U.S. coronavirus cases, a wave that may be intensified by the back-to-school season.

To read more of this article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Labor & Employment