

After the Eric Adams Indictment, What's Next?

Thursday, September 26, 2024

Jerry Goldfeder was quoted in a Wall Street Journal article discussing whether a special election would be needed if Mayor Eric Adams resigns. “If the mayor steps down before late March–90 days before the June 2025 mayoral primary election—the acting mayor calls a special election. It would take place within about 80 days,” said Jerry. “That special election would be ranked-choice voting,” he added, which lets voters list candidates in order of preference instead of picking on choice.

To read the full article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Commercial Litigation
- Government & Regulatory