

Federal Judge Asks Rogers and Shaw to Provide Evidence Supporting Competition Bureau's Proposed Relief

Friday, November 4, 2022

Michael Osborne was quoted in an article published by The Globe and Mail that discusses a recent request for Rogers Communications Inc. and Shaw Communications Inc. to address proposals from Canada's anti-competition watchdog to resolve a dispute.

According to Michael, the letter from Justice Campion "looks like a very strong hint" that the companies should consider reaching a settlement with the bureau outside of court. "He wants the parties to think about an alternate order that would not require a full block of the deal. He's saying, 'We should find a way to settle this,' and he's saying that publicly," said Michael.

To read the full article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Antitrust & Competition
- Commercial Litigation