

35th Annual Monetary and Trade Conference

Location

Drexel University's LeBow College of Business
Philadelphia, PA

Date & Time

Start Date: 04/21/2017
Start Time: 9:00am
End Time: 12:00pm

Camille Miller, co-chair of Cozen O'Connor's Intellectual Property department, will be speaking at this event in Philadelphia. The theme for this conference is Globalization at Cross Roads. Recent political developments cast doubt on the importance of globalization and question the benefits associated with free trade and open markets. While academic research has documented welfare benefits from free trade, some skeptics have recently argued that globalization has gone too far, causing dislocation of jobs, amplifying inequality, and creating vulnerabilities in the global financial system.
