

Billions In Federal Spending Guided By Prevailing Wage Rules

Friday, April 22, 2022

Larry Prosen was quoted in an article published by Law360 which discusses how the infrastructure bill President Joe Biden signed into law in the fall is set to unleash hundreds of billions of dollars on roads, bridges, trains, and other construction projects. "Non-union shops or open shops oftentimes don't participate in the surveys," Larry said. "A lot of non-union or open shop-type companies don't want to share their pricing because that gives the union the ability to see behind the curtains more easily."

To read the full article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Construction Law