Clerkships

Hon. Noel L. Hillman, U.S. District Judge, U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey

Madison assists clients through all stages of their intellectual property matters. Madison advises her clients on their various trademark and copyright needs, including trademark clearance, enforcement, prosecution, and internet domain issues. She drafts licensing agreements, IP assignment agreements, and other IP contracts. Madison also practices in the area of intellectual property litigation, in matters involving trademark infringement, trade secrets, and restrictive covenants. She drafts a wide variety of legal memorandum, motions, pleadings, and written discovery in such cases. Madison also handles research and document review.

Madison earned her bachelor's degree from The George Washington University and her law degree, cum laude, from Temple University Beasley School of Law. While in law school, she was a staff editor of the Temple Law Review and a judicial intern for the Hon. Noel L. Hillman, U.S. District Judge, U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey.

Experience

Secured a preliminary injunction for an energy industry client against a competitor in a case in which the client brought federal and state claims for counterfeiting, trademark and copyright infringement, cancellation of trademark registration, unfair competition, deceptive trade practices, breach of contract, and cybersquatting after the competitor began trying to pass its own products off as the client's. The court enjoined the competitor from manufacturing, importing, distributing and/or selling any products using the client's trademarks, or any confusingly similar marks, and froze the competitor's assets related to its counterfeiting and other illegal activities.
