

When Will You Be Able to Get Vaccinated at Work?

Wednesday, February 10, 2021

John Ho spoke with CNBC about how the Occupational Safety and Health Administration recently issued guidance that paves the way for how companies will be able to make a COVID vaccine available at no cost to all eligible employees. And yet, for now, "getting the vaccine is a distribution issue," said John. "If you can get the private sector to help you, great," he added. "Once it's widely available, that's a win-win."

To read more of this article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Labor & Employment