

Material Shortages and Cost Escalation in the Built Environment and What it Means to You

Location

Webinar

Date & Time

Start Date: 02/07/2022

Start Time: 12:00 p.m.

Speakers

Larry Prosen will be presenting a webinar for the Washington Building Congress.

Supply chain issues and cost escalation have been at the forefront of construction news. These issues are impacting decision making and outcomes of projects across the globe. Economists and other authorities forecast supply chain issues and cost escalation to continue deep into 2022. Our moderated panel of industry professionals will identify and discuss the current problem, propose contractual language that can be used to allocate these risks, and discuss how your project teams can manage and potentially mitigate the risks created by these issues.
