

'Soft' Vaccine Mandates Seen as Boon to Worker Buy-In, Safety

Wednesday, August 4, 2021

David Barron spoke with Bloomberg Law about the latest on offices reopening with COVID-19 vaccination policies. For all its advantages, the soft mandate option isn't without its shortcomings for employers. "The issues are going to be the costs and the potential wage-and-hour exposure," said David.

To read more of this article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Labor & Employment