

Litigating Post-Coronavirus

Location

Webinar

Date & Time

Start Date: 07/23/2020

Start Time: 11:00 am

End Time: 12:00 pm PST

COVID-19 and the related stay at home orders across the country have changed the way businesses operate on every level. This webinar will address the multiple routes available to continue to litigate through the coronavirus and beyond. One common theme is to embrace the new technology. Members of Cozen O'Connor's Commercial Litigation Department with experience conducting several key aspects of litigations in a fully remote environment, which includes depositions, mediations, arbitrations, court appearances, arguments, and conferences. Hear from litigators who have tackled filings for existing and new cases while weaving through court restrictions that can be both significant and unclear, including the complexities of filings that involve multiple courts operating under different restrictions. Speakers will provide an overview of the courts in major jurisdictions around the country.
