

Deerfield Resident, Chicago Attorney Kevin Caraher Helps Wrongly Imprisoned Man Win Freedom

Tuesday, May 15, 2018

Kevin Caraher, a member of Cozen O'Connor's Subrogation and Recovery Department, was featured in an article in the Deerfield Review section of the Chicago Tribune. The article discussed how Kevin won a case for a pro bono client with the Illinois Innocence Project. Thanks to Kevin's help and knowledge of modern fire investigation techniques, the client, who had been imprisoned for 22 years, was freed from prison and exonerated of murder and aggravated arson charges.
