

COVID-19 and the Workplace: What California Employers Need to Know

Location

Webinar

Date & Time

Start Date: 03/19/2020
 Start Time: 12:00 pm
 End Time: 1:00 pm PDT

COVID-19 has officially been declared a pandemic. There is, however, no blueprint for operating during a pandemic, yet we must. In this webinar, we will examine the unprecedented challenges faced by employers in this challenging time. Can you require employees with symptoms to stay home? How should you respond if an employee is unable to work due to a self-quarantine or refuses to come to work because of fear of exposure? What information can be conveyed to co-workers? What are the legal obligations when the workplace suddenly becomes virtual? In this webinar, we will examine these issues and more. We will also provide practical legal guidance on what every company should be doing now and what plans should be in place to deal with various contingency situations.

Sponsor

The Southern California Chapter of the ACC

Share
 Post

ATTORNEYS

Michele Ballard Miller
 Chair, West Coast Labor & Employment

mbmiller@cozen.com

(415) 262-8301

Walter M. Stella
 Member

wstella@cozen.com

(415) 262-8339

RELATED PRACTICES

Labor & Employment

