

Fla. Real Estate Attys See Lengthy Rebuild From Hurricane Ian

Thursday, September 29, 2022

Ralf R. Rodriguez, a member of the firm's Construction Law Group, was quoted in the Law360 article "Fla. Real Estate Attys See Lengthy Rebuild From Hurricane Ian." Ralf compared Ian to past hurricanes and discussed the current issues affecting the real estate, construction, and insurance industries and the broader economy that may affect rebuilding and recovery efforts. "This is going to be one major damage-causing hurricane, if not the costliest one so far," said Ralf. "To the people who don't have flood insurance, they may end up not being able to recover and then have to sell their properties the way they are."

To read more of this article, click here.

Related Practice Areas

- Commercial Litigation
- Construction Law