

Who is Todd Blanche, Donald Trump's Lawyer in his Stormy Daniel's Hush Money Trial?

Wednesday, April 24, 2024

Sarah Krissoff, a member at the firm's White Collar Defense & Investigations practice, spoke with Reuters on April 24, to talk about the background of Todd Blanche, a lawyer defending Trump in his trial on charges stemming from hush money paid to a porn star and handling several other criminal cases for Trump. "He saw this opportunity and decided to grab it," said Sarah. "It's a decision a lot of other prominent white-collar lawyers might not have made just because of the risks involved and the attention and the necessity of being in the public view," she added.

Related Practice Areas

- White Collar Defense & Investigations