Howard Krooks will present "Trust Protectors: The Good, The Bad, & The Ugly" at Stetson University's National Conference on Special Needs Planning and Special Needs Trusts. The session will provide a detailed analysis of the use of Trust Protectors nationally and an overview of states that provide statutory authority. There will also be a review of case law, highlighting some of the problems and pitfalls encountered by persons who have served as Trust Protectors.

Topics will include:

- Why should you use Trust Protectors?
- Why should you not use Trust Protectors?
- What powers are typically conferred on Trust Protectors?
